Dr. Cornelia Oetke holds a doctorate in biology and is admitted to practice as a German and European Patent Attorney. She is a member of the Biology/Biotechnology and Pharmaceuticals team and a partner at Wallinger Ricker Schlotter Tostmann.

Legal Practice

Dr. Oetke's areas of practice include the prosecution of European patent applications and the enforcement and defense of intellectual property rights in opposition and nullity proceedings. A special focus of her work is also the drafting of patent applications and she is happy to advise and assist you competently in building up your patent portfolio. Dr. Oetke also has extensive experience in advising on and filing supplementary protection certificates and in preparing patent infringement, FTO, and validity opinions.

Dr. Oetke has been working in the field of intellectual property for more than 10 years. After working for a renowned, internationally-active Munich patent law firm for many years, she joined the Wallinger Ricker Schlotter Tostmann team in 2017.

Technical Background

Dr. Oetke specializes in advising and representing clients in the fields of biotechnology, active ingredients (small molecules, proteins) and medical uses, formulations, antibodies, CAR T-cells, biosimilars, vaccines, gene therapy, stem cells, cell culture media and cell culture processes, expression systems, and diagnostic methods.
